From the Maestra...

"I dreamed a dream in time gone by..." (I Dreamed a Dream from Les Miserables). Susan Boyle, a simple, gentle woman from a small village in Scotland dreamed a dream, and achieved worldwide recognition after a stellar performance on Britain's television program, Britain's Got Talent. Thirty six years ago, this community dreamed a dream, and the stellar Southeastern Ohio Symphony Orchestra came into being.

Together, with the support and dedication of this, our community, we have achieved wonderful accolades within the past ten years. In 2001, together we won a highly coveted award of national prominence, the ASCAP award for Adventurous Programming.

Our community has experienced several world premieres, and the United States premiere of the published version of Louise Farrenc's Third Symphony. We have received invitations to international festivals, and brought internationally renowned soloists to share their talents with the children and adults of our community. In May of 2009, thanks to generous grant support from the Longaberger Foundation, the Alato trio brought 'classical' and other styles of music in live performance to over 3,000 elementary children in Muskingum, Coshocton, and Guernsey counties—all children within our own community.

All of us, together in this community, are what make these tremendous accomplishments possible, these dreams a reality. All of us, community member musicians, symphony board members, patrons, supporters, advertisers, audience members, and of course our generous partner, Muskingum University and President Anne Steele, work together to maintain and continue the development of this wonderful community entity. All of us, together, can speak with pride and ownership of this wonderful orchestra, located and comprised of musicians right here, members of our own community.

This year we are featuring a Season of Classics to include some of the greatest 'classic' composers Mendelssohn, Mozart, Anderson, and Vivaldi, among many others. And, of course, keeping an eye ever toward our technologically advancing future, there will be many visual as well as interactive and enjoyable activities throughout the season.

As we continue to proceed through tenuous financial times, we maintain our focus on our mission of 'music for all', and our symphony season and single tickets remain one of the greatest bargains around. Keeping a dream alive, however, calls for inspiration, and external support, and we as a symphony rely heavily on the generous support we receive from our sponsors, patrons, advertisers and business partnerships. We continue through the support of our community, and I invite you, as always, to keep our dream alive through sponsorships, advertising, and encouraging more people to become members of our community, and become symphony patrons if they've not yet experienced our symphony, our dream.

We look forward to seeing you this year, as we dream our dream, and live our dream, through a Season of Classics, with you, our symphony community.
